25X1	3.	In June 1952 all of the PS officers occupied positions which called for much higher ranks. A PS junior lieutenant commanded a company; a lieutenant, a battalion, positions which normally called for a captain and a major, respectively. The CO of the 7th PS Brigade was a major.
25X1		the reason was that the PS was a new organization, training its own officer personnel; it was composed, for the most part, of junior officers (company grade) in June 1952.
25X1		in 1952 many of the PS officers were to be promoted, although promotions had been very slow prior to June 1952.
	SNB	and STB
	4.	SNB and STB NCOs received a higher pay than career army or PS NCOs and SNB and STB officers received more money than their army or PS counterparts. STB and SNB personnel were paid according to their assignments, ie, a junior patrolman (mladsi strazmister), the lowest ranking SNB-STB member, while assigned as a political instructor, might receive more money than some senior lieutenants in the same organization.
